READING

“Elegy as Prophylaxis”
Read by Benjamin N. Levy

Rachel Hadas

Uncomfortably attuned to evanescence,
I wrote a farewell poem to our cats when they were pushing twenty. Evanescence:
too vaporous a word for flesh and fur, since they pace the hallway still, and purr—alive and well. Or seem as if they were.
Elegy anticipates, then mourns
the fact that what we love will disappear.
So write your elegy well in advance of getting warm in the protracted game of hide-and-seek that lasts as long as life does (no longer). Elegies should touch upon as many pulsing places as they can;
connect the dots then, make a constellation which reproduces poet, lover, friend, or cat, which, having scorned mortality's blank sky, pads into view with a faint friendly mew.

"We Shall Overcome"

Pete Seeger '40 (1919–2014)

The congregation standing

We shall overcome,
We shall overcome,
We shall overcome, some day.

Oh, deep in my heart,
I do believe
We shall overcome, some day.

We'll walk hand in hand,
We'll walk hand in hand,
We'll walk hand in hand, some day.

Oh, deep in my heart,
I do believe
We shall overcome, some day.

We shall live in peace,
We shall live in peace,
We shall live in peace, some day.

Oh, deep in my heart,
I do believe
We shall overcome, some day.

We are not afraid,
We are not afraid,
We are not afraid, TODAY

Oh, deep in my heart,
I do believe
We shall overcome, some day.

The whole wide world around
The whole wide world around
The whole wide world around some day

Oh, deep in my heart,
I do believe
We shall overcome, some day.
